CRB HEALTH TECH VENTURE CAPITAL FIRM

Founded in 2010, CRB Health Tech (formerly CRB Inverbio) is one of the first Venture Capital firms specialised in technology-based projects in the field of medicine and life sciences in Spain.

Registered in the National Securities Market Commission (CNMV) under number 87, CRB Health Tech and its team of seven, highly experienced professionals in the health-care sector, currently manages three funds: CRB SCR, a seed health fund, CRB BIO II FCR, an early-stage Venture Capital fund, and Nuubo FCRE, all focusing on biotech and medtech. CRB is currently launching its fourth fund focused on Digital Health.

The total committed capital in the three aforementioned vehicles, exceeds €50M and the resulting portfolio includes diagnostics, med tech, and digital health companies, most of them with value propositions already in the commercial stage, free of technological or regulatory risk.

CRB Health Tech provides not only capital to its participated companies, but takes an active role in value creation, according to the specific needs of each of them.

Some companies participated for CRB Health Tech are: Biocross, Venter Pharma, Amadix, Nuubo, Necwins, Aglaris, and many others.
